Following my passion, I have always studied the languages and techniques of cinema, comics, television and social media. At university I discovered semiotics, which allowed me to move from theory to practice by combining creative writing, semantics and logistics.

Since 2021 I have been working in the film industry in and around Bologna, covering various roles in the production department and developing my personal projects. In 2023 he won the Sonego Award as co-writer of the short film "L'Uovo".
