PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL INFO

In 2001 I spent 6 months in Bolivia (La Paz) to carry out my civil service, working in homeless kid shelter. This experience was for me the starting point to understand how everything in this world can be different if seen from different point of view.

I started getting close to cinematography in 2004, by working as a second assistant camera.

In 2008, the cinematography digital evolution, together with my curiosity for new technologies, lead me to get a specialization in Digital Imaging Technician (D.I.T.).

Thanks to the annual experience as D.I.T., I had many opportunities to work in touch with several Directors of Photography, gaining considerable practical experience in camera operating, color theory, lighting and composition.

The aesthetic sensibility and technical skills I developed in the last years helped me to mature my own personal cinematography style.

In my free time I love getting lost up in the mountains, hiking or riding my bike
