

Saverio Peschechera

Graduated in Political Science, Saverio Peschechera attended the Professional Training Course for Cultural Managers at the AFORIS Agency (Foggia, Italy) and graduated in Master in Management of Events of the Performing Arts at Palazzo Spinelli (Florence, Italy). After an internship at the Department of Culture of the Region of Puglia, he worked in project management, organization, fund raising for various projects at Day by Day Coop (Trinitapoli, BT, Italy), Palazzo Spinelli, Arci Milano, Circo-lo Teatro del Sale (Florence). From 1997 to 2001 he worked at Radio Sud Italia as a speaker and for the management and organisation of radio programmes, and from 2008 to 2012 he collaborated to the newspaper "BAT Comunica". Since 2008, he has been the organisational director and production manager of Teatri di Vita.

Executive producer and distribution of the documentaries "+o- il sesso confuso" (2010) and "Torri, checche e tortellini" (2015); the production of the feature film "Gli anni amari" (2019) and the documentaries "La faraona" (2021) and "La solitudine è questa" (2022) produced by Cinemare.