About me

Creative and professional. Born in Reggio Emilia, raised in Modena until I was 18. Since I was a child I had a passion for making random films with my friends, then as time went by I let go of this aspect of mine. After finishing high school with a focus on economics and social sciences, I decided to follow what really interested me in life, the world of cinema. I discovered the Blow-Up Academy of Cinematographic Art through a call for applications. I was selected because there was a limited number of places and I began my studies in what I was truly passionate about. I learned how the world of the film industry works, but also the world of art and authorship (a fundamental concept of the academy). During the course I was able to learn, shoot my own shorts and have the opportunity to go on more professional sets. Now I am working on various projects that includes shorts, features films and documentaries.
