

Mauro Leoni: biography

I'm interested in stories: they can change perspectives and the acts of people, and therefore have a significant impact of the society. Through photography and short movies, I narrate the stories of people with intellectual disabilities and psychiatric problems.