ABOUT ME

Passionate about cinema, television and literature. I consider myself an attentive and orderly listener, committed to accuracy, thoroughness when performing work assignments. I have good communication skills acquired during my university experience and I am always open to dialogue and exchange of ideas. I am highly motivated in learning new tasks that allow me to grow professionally. In my spare time I like to read exploring different genres, from novels to historical essays. I am a curious traveler, always try to discover new places and cultures different from mine.
