

SIMONE GAMBELLI

Simone Gambelli is an Italian cinematographer, photographer, and gaffer. He graduated in 2012 with a degree in Film Analysis from the DAMS (Discipline of Arts, Music, and Entertainment) in Bologna, where he immersed himself in the city's rich cultural and experimental scene. During this time, he collaborated with directors, cinematographers, photographers, and editors, including Massimo Sciacca, Enrico Masi, Paolo "Sbrango" Marzoni, and Vito Palmieri.

He began his career working as a camera operator and director of photography on observational and research documentaries produced by regional production companies in Emilia-Romagna. However, it was in Rome that his career took a decisive turn, thanks to collaborations with highly experienced gaffers such as Stefano Marino, Jakob Ballinger, Leonardo Beltrame, and Ettore Abate. This experience helped him establish himself as a professional in the film industry, working closely with world-renowned cinematographers and directors, including Roman Polanski, Joe Wright, and Angelina Jolie.

Throughout this period, Simone balanced his involvement in major film productions, where he held roles like best boy and desk operator, with his work as a cinematographer and camera operator on documentary, advertising, and short film projects.

In 2023, Simone made a significant leap in his career by becoming an additional director of photography for the series M - Il figlio del Secolo, working alongside acclaimed cinematographers Seamus McGarvey and Paolo Carnera.
