SOCIAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

Working in film, theater and television it is essential to be prepared to work as a team. This type of work is carried out for many hours and for long periods in places, sometimes even small spaces, where people work side by side, each with its own very specific responsibilities and powers, but collaborating on the same creative project. The quality of the final product is very often linked to a good human atmosphere and collaborative attitude.

ORGANIZATIONAL SKILLS

For many years worked as both a costume designer for film, television and theater, but also as a designer to create samples and as an organizer of events. In all these situations in addition to creative skills you find yourself having to organize the work of other people and having to administer a budget and keep accounts.

In addition, I have been working during 2020-2021 as a location manager for various cinematographic and televisive productions. With these experiences I gained knowledge and practical skills necessary for a positive outcome in the research and logistical organizational of locations in different types of productions, in addition to the delicate processes with the production teams that this role necessitates.
