COVER LETTER

Dear Human resources director,

I am a motivated freelance professional looking for a support role in a film distribution company. I am highly-experienced due to successfully working on film promotion campaigns and TV/media sales for different distribution and production companies in Bologna (Italy).

Here I was the contact person for valued clients both Italian and international, and now I am looking for an opportunity to expand my international experience in a similar setting.

I am a diplomatic person who loves collaborating in team, confident in problem solving, extremely results-oriented and proactive in building up long-term relationships with excellent interpersonal skills.

Curious and film-passionate, I curated film and video content and collaborated to the programming of arthouse, cultural cinemas and local film festival.

My long-term goals involve growing with a great film-lover team, with whom I can contribute to developing new projects and take them to the successful final stage.

Looking forward to my next step with you, I hope to meet up with you soon.

Yours sincerely
RR
