Founded in 2022, Moonpath Studio is an independent production company based in Rimini whose main focus is the enhancement of the historical, cultural and natural heritage of Romagna and Italy.

The group of members at the base is composed of the Rimini director Marco Gentili and the Bolognese producer Leo Scotti and the screenwriter Camilla Rabitti, to which were added the Brescian Sofia Amato as Festival manager, the Rimini Matteo Cucci and Lorenzo Tufano, respectively as DOP and operator / drone.

In 2023, pending the distribution of the documentary "Passo d'arme", written and directed by Marco Gentili and winner of two industry festivals in the USA, the company is intent on developing its projects for the period 2023-2025, in addition to taking action on the territory for the production of commercials, video clips and promotional videos for social media.

The company also offers itself as an executive production or local unit to support productions that intend to invest in the territory of the greater area of Romagna and the Republic of San Marino.

Members Biography

Leo Scotti, Marco Gentili

Leo Scotti and Marco Gentili have been working together since 2017.

Born in Bologna in 1991 and moved to Rimini in 2010, Scotti graduated in Motor Sciences in 2014 but nurtured since childhood, also because of the family environment, a passion for the world of art, spending himself in training courses in the fields of comics, theater, cinema and writing, with particular attention to the part closely linked to production.

Gentili was born in Rimini in 1989 and his debut behind the camera took place in 2013 when he was offered to direct for a fishing channel on SKY. Since then he has never stopped writing and directing, becoming a very prolific author in his ten-year career, receiving numerous awards.

The two met in 2017 on the set of a commercial for the Giometti film chain. Since then the duo has collaborated continuously on projects such as the documentaries «Draconis – La Storia del drago di Rimini», «L'appennino delle streghe» (in post production) and «Passo d'arme», which led them to win the Filmesque Cinefest and the NYIFA in New York at the turn of 2022 and 2023, or the sci-fi short film «Over The Skyline», Made in the middle of the pandemic and capable of obtaining sixteen awards out of thirty-two selections worldwide between 2021 and 2022.

In 2022 they founded together Moonpath Studio determined to raise the bar and, after eating a piadina in space in the video clip "Jungle" by Denise Battaglia, to bring Romagna among the stars of international cinema. They are currently developing the director's and studio's debut feature.
